Referral Process for Social Service Clients

For anyone who is interested in joining SHARE Community or would like to refer a client, here is some important information about how to join.

The cost of a client coming to SHARE depends on the number of days they attend, but we also offer discounts if more than five clients are referred to SHARE from a social work team. Please contact Pam Dale for our pricing policy.

Trainees can come to SHARE for a minimum of three days and a maximum of five days a week. Trainees can choose which days to attend, however in an event that we are unable to accommodate their preferred days we will discuss alternative days with the trainee.

Trainees can join one or more of the training projects and all trainees are encouraged to participate in the extra activities. SHARE also holds a number of cultural and community outings and events throughout the year and trainees are welcome to join in, however if they are being held on a trainee's unallocated day, we will not charge for a trainee to attend on this extra day.

SHARE also promotes participation in work placements, further education courses and employment, and our Employment Guidance Officer and project supervisors are there to support any trainee who wishes to pursue further activities.

Lunch and refreshments are provided free of charge for the trainees by the catering project.

SHARE operates a regular review system for all its trainees. For trainees who have an allocated social worker, reviews are usually held either three, six or twelve monthly at SHARE. SHARE Community also reserves the right to call a review at any time if it is considered necessary.

SHARE also requests that any trainee with personal care needs must arrange to have a personal assistant present to assist, either through Social Services or Direct Payments.

For any further information or to arrange an informal interview and a show around of the facilities at SHARE, please contact Pam Dale on 020 7801 9812 or email enquiries@sharecommunity.org.uk.
